
Upcoming Events of Interest to SMET Educators

SIGMA XI 2001 Sigma Xi Forum

Science, the Arts and the Humanities: Connections and Collisions

November 8-9, 2001

Sheraton Capital Center

Raleigh, North Carolina

The 2001 Sigma Xi Forum, Science, the Arts and Humanities: Connections and Collisions, will focus on the reciprocal influences of science, in its endeavor to understand nature; the humanities, in their essential role as the shapers of values; and the arts, as acts of creation that speak to our emotions.

Website: <http://www.sigmaxi.org/forum/2001Forum/Forum2001.htm>

Bringing Real-World Issues into Science and Engineering Classrooms Auburn University, AL

August-September 2001

Organized by: LITEE

A workshop for science and engineering faculty interested in developing effective strategies to prepare students for real-world problem-solving situations and train them in team building, interaction, and interdisciplinary skills.

Website: litee@auburn.edu

ASEE/SEFI International Conference: Global Changes in Engineering Education

September 15-18, 2001

Berlin, Germany

Topics: Educating Engineering Students in Entrepreneurship, National Accreditation/Global Practice, Technology in Learning Systems

The Frontiers in Education Conference (FIE 2001)

is a celebration of FIE's 31st anniversary, continuing a tradition of disseminating new ideas in engineering and computer science education.

Oct. 10-13, 2001,

Reno, Nevada.

Website: <http://coeweb.engr.unr.edu/~fie/index.html>

2001 ASEE Annual Conference & Exposition

June 24 - 27, 2001

Albuquerque, New Mexico

The ASEE Annual Conference & Exposition features numerous professional, educational, and networking opportunities.

Website: <http://www.asee.org/conferences/annual2001/information.htm>

INTERTECH'2002 - VII International Conference on Engineering and Technology Education, March 17-20, 2002.

Santos, SP, Brazil

The conference will be hosted by Santos City Hall. The Theme of the conference is "Engineering Education and Technology in the New Paradigm of Global Society". The papers will be assessed by an international review board.

Website: <http://www.lusiada.br/intertech2002>
